When we last saw Mark Tyrell of Microsoft Consulting Services at our April dinner meeting, he continued his series on Windows 2000, this time focusing on Windows 2000 Server and Advanced Server.

Since Microsoft continues to release upgrades (when will it ever stop!), we invited Mark to our November dinner meeting to introduce us to Exchange 2000, which will be officially launched on October 25, 2000.

If you thought all Exchange provided was e-mail, you will be presently surprised. The theme of Exchange 2000 is messaging and collaboration, both of which become integrated in a powerful package.

Instant messaging and video conferencing are now added to the feature set as well as new ways to web enable the sharing of documents and information.

Mark is an enthusiastic presenter and will provide lots of information that you can use when you get back to your organization.

Make plans to join us on November 21, 2000 and bring your co-workers!

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE by Patricia McMurray

It was indeed a pleasure to award and recognize our student contributors to the organization at the October dinner meeting. They all did a fine job in preparing our meeting and securing the guest speaker for the evening.

November is the month to recognize all members of our organization. We appreciate your support and encourage your participation in our monthly meetings. We have new members and some loyal followers who have been with us for 30 years or more. The Pittsburgh chapter is fortunate to have such a cross section of people in its organization.

We look forward to seeing you at the November dinner meeting on the 21st. Anyone with 1, 5, 10 etc. years with the group will be recognized. Mr. Krugh and Mr. Iwanicki have been tracking these members and identifying their terms.

We point out that the site for our early December meeting will be changed. We will hold our meeting at Gaetano's on Banksville Road on December 12. Please mark your calendar with the date and location. We plan to see you all there.

WHERE YUNZ GOIN?... HOW TO UNDERSTAND A NATIVE PITTSBURGHER

If you were born and raised in "the burgh," you understand that we have our own language here. Visitors and transferees can often be confused when asked "Jeetjet? How about a jumbo sandwich?" Of course, that jumbo would go great with an "arn." Since you won't find these pleasingly Pittsburgh statements in any of the dictionaries currently in publication, we decided to publish the following:

Food and Drink:

Chipped Ham: AKA: Chipped chopped ham. Wafer thin slices of processed ham. "I think I'll have a chipped ham sammitch."

City Chicken: A combination of pork and veal (but no chicken) on a skewer. Often grilled and sometimes fried or broiled. "Mom is making city chicken for dinner tonight."

Dirty O: A restaurant in Oakland called "The Original Hot Dog Shop." You can get an arn there along with some great fast food.

Eat-n-Park: A popular restaurant. You don't actually eat and then park. You park, go inside and sit down for dinner.

Hoagie: A submarine sandwich sometimes known in other parts of the country as a hero. Often made by schools in the area as a fund raiser. "Our hoagie sale is next week"

Jeet: Also "jeetjet?". An inquiry into whether or not you have eaten. Jeetjet? If not, let's go get a hoagie."

Jumbo: Bologna, a lunch meat. Not necessarily large. If the jumbo is on party rye, a Pittsburgh native might comment, "Look at those tiny jumbo sandwiches."

Klondike: Not a frozen tundra, but rather an ice cream treat covered with chocolate. In the past, Klondikes were frozen on a stick and if your stick had the word "free" on it, you were awarded a free Klondike.

Mill: Breakfast, lunch or dinner. "My wife made a great mill tonight."

Pop: A carbonated drink. Known in some parts of the country as a soda. "How about a cherry pop?"

Sammitch: A sandwich. "How about fixin' a jumbo sammitch?"

The Strip: A section of town where there are wholesale markets and warehouses. A popular place to shop for food. "We get all our fresh vegetables in the Strip."

Just Talking:

Aht: Where you go when you leave the house; "I'm going aht for a little bit."
All right: O.K., fine, well. "Hey you all right?"

Anymore: The situation as it is today.. "Anymore, it seems like it's really hard to make a living."

The Arena: Pittsburgh's Civic Arena. A domed stadium at the foot of the Hill. (Pittsburgh's Hill District)

Cellar: Basement. "The furnace is in the cellar."

Chitchat: To have a conversation. "We had a little chitchat about that."

Couitent: Could not. Closely related to "wouitent." "I couitent get here on time 'cause the car wouitent start."

Dahntahn: Downtown. "Dahntahn was rilly busy today."

Dill: A special price. "I got a good dill on the house." Also, to distribute. "It's your turn to dill the cards."

Gum Bands: Rubber used to bind things with. "Put a gum band around the paper before you toss it on the porch."

Hans: The things at the end of your arm. "I had it right here in my hans."

Haas: The place where you live. "I can't wait to move into my new haas."

I 'nnear: Local hospital that cares for people who have eye and ear problems.

Jaggers: Thorns. "Watch out! That rose has jaggers."

Lenth: A measure of distance. "You have to measure the width and the lenth."

Nebby: Nosey. "She sure is a nebbly person."

The Point: Point State Park where the fountain is and where the Allegheny and the Monongahela Rivers meet to form the Ohio River. "There is a great concert at the Point to-night."

Redd up: To clean, as in "This haas rilly needs redd up."

Rilly: Really. "This haas rilly needs redd up."

Sahside: A neighborhood south of dahntahn Pittsburgh. "Anymore, they have some rilly neat stores on the sahside."

Worsh: To clean with water. Also, the laundry. "I rilly need to worsh the car" or "Put those dirty clothes in the worsh."

Younz: All of you. Pittsburghese for y'all. "What do younz want for dinner?"

PITTSBURGH CHAPTER AWARDS SCHOLARSHIPS AND SIPA

At the October 17 meeting of the AITP Pittsburgh Chapter, three students were awarded Student Chapter Scholarships.

Tied for first place was Dale Smith, ICM School of Business and Clinton Schaffer, CCAC. The third place winner was Maria Luca from ICM School of Business. Dale and Maria were also awarded the SIPA award.

DALE SMITH

Dale Smith is a recipient of two awards, the AITP (SIPA) Student Individual Performance Award and a 1st place scholarship award from the Pittsburgh Chapter. Dale is working on an 18 month Associate and Allied Science degree in Computer Management Networking Engineer. Dale has achieved his Microsoft Certified Professional certification and has passed 3 of 6 certifications in order to earn the recognition of Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer, MCSE.

Dale has been a member of the AITP student chapter since his first quarter and has held the officer roles of assistant secretary and president. He is instrumental in maintaining the chapter's database, tracking SIPA and SCOPA points and re-designing organization's membership forms, memos and announcements. Dale's involvement carries over to the Pittsburgh Chapter with his participation at the reservation desk and assisting in the organization of the October student dinner meeting. Dale also tutors students through the school's student 'STAR' Tutoring center and serves as an Ambassador for the Career Center during in-school career fairs.

Dale has registered his sole proprietorship business as a trademark under the auspices of IBO, Independent Business. For the past 10 years, he has dedicated his business to marketing your business.

In addition to developing his business he is seeking a position with the Department of State as a Foreign Services Information Management Consultant, providing networking services internationally. Dale strives to stay on the cutting edge of technology by staying involved.

CLINTON SCHAFFER

Clinton Schaffer is a self-motivated honoree of the 1st place scholarship award from the Pittsburgh AITP Chapter. At Community College of Allegheny, Clinton completed a 10 month course in 3 months at a "Move At Your Own Pace" program. As he awaits the completion of his full school term to come to a closure, he will receive a Certificate of Accomplishment in Computer Programming.

During his tenure at Community College, Clinton served as the president of the student chapter. He was instrumental in increasing student membership and retention, scheduled bi-weekly meetings inviting guest speaker and visiting outside resources for additional educational learning.

He is active in the Pittsburgh Chapter and attends the monthly board meetings as student liaison. He also attends and enjoys the monthly dinner meetings which gives him an opportunity to network, share and learn valuable trade tricks.

In July 2000, Clinton worked part-time at an internship with Contemporary Technology Incorporated as a database administrator. His technical skills surpassed the average requirement and he was hired full time 1 month later where he currently works.

MARIA LUCAS

Maria Lucas is a recipient of the AITP Pittsburgh Chapter scholarship for 3rd place and the AITP (SIPA) Student Individual Performance Award. Maria Lucas is an October 2000 graduate of ICM School of Business. She received an Associate Specialized Degree in the 18 month Microsoft Certified Solution Developer program. Maria maintained the highest average of 4.0 in all of her 6 quarters in school, while actively participating in school functions. As an exemplary student, Maria was selected to serve as an Ambassador for the Career Center, who assisted with the duties of career fairs at the school.

Her AITP roles included secretary and president. She also served as the student liaison to the Pittsburgh Chapter AITP and voiced the students concerns and issues as well as received pertinent information regarding SIPA, SCOPA, chapter and region scholarships, conferences and other events.

During the school term, Maria worked as a Development Assistant at Three Rivers Youth Organization; a non-profit organization for abused and neglected children. As a development assistant, she maintained a database for constituents. Upon graduation, Maria accepted a position at Management Services Association as a Senior Database Specialist. She aspires to be the best Oracle Programmer in the western PA and Ohio area.
